DOHA, QATAR 22-25 APRIL 2013

ACCI Business Delegation

Message from Chairman of ACCI

On behalf of Afghanistan Chamber of Commerce & Industries (ACCI), I would like to congratulate International Chamber of Commerce “ICC”, World Chamber Federation “WCF” and Qatar Chamber for hosting the 8th World Chambers Congress in Doha. ACCI views the congress as a great opportunity where the leaders can share their experiences, strengthen their relations and build new networks.

Afghanistan desires to grow its economic ties with the nations of the world; we believe that the World Chamber Congress is one of the key platforms where we can introduce existing potentials for business partnership in Afghanistan. An event such as this one, bringing private sector representatives from around the world together to expand business opportunities, affirms our commitment to a free market economy driven by private sector dynamism and entrepreneurship.

Despite the obvious challenges faced by our country, the Afghan economy has recorded a high growth rate. Investment, both local and foreign, has grown rapidly. Billions of dollars is invested in the mining sector, in aviation, telecommunications, banking, and the construction industry. Investors continue to recognize the significant upside investment potential in some of our sectors, even after factoring the downside risk.

The investment narrative is clear. Afghanistan is a high opportunity, medium-high risk, investment proposition. High value opportunities will remain for decades to come and thanks to the Afghan and international security assistance force, the business risk indicator continues to improve.

The ACCI is an independent organization and the pre-eminent voice for the private sector in Afghanistan. The Chamber is positioned to respond to inquiries from potential investors or to work with relevant government institutions and local businesses to facilitate a conducive and seamless transition for investors who commit to doing business in Afghanistan.

Finally I believe that this event can act as an important platform for the exchange of information and ideas and lead to positive, mutually beneficial outcomes.

Thank you

Mr. Atiqullah Nusrat
Deputy CEO

About ACCI

Background

Afghanistan is a country with untapped business opportunities and great potential. It has a number of comparative advantages that can be turned into competitiveness, given the right support and strategic direction. The Afghan Chamber of Commerce and Industry (ACCI) fully embraces this ideal and is in the process to make it a reality. In order to live up to its vision, the chamber represents the interests of the private sector and provides services to its 62,500 member companies. These activities are conducted countrywide through ACCI's head-office in Kabul and 21 branches in the provinces.

In serving the private sector, the chamber looks back on a long history, which started 80 years ago. In 1931, Afghan traders established for the first time an association to coordinate their business activities and defend their rights. Later on this organization was transformed into the chamber of commerce and industries to promote domestic production and trade in all provinces. In the beginning of the millennium the former state controlled chamber made a dynamic leap forward. The chamber law of 2009 ensured that the ACCI is an independent and democratic organization regulated by the state. This approach allows for close co-operation between the public and private sectors and enables the creation of a self-regulated business sector throughout the country.

The ACCI is on the firm belief that the improvement of the enabling environment for doing business is a shared concern of all stakeholders. Under the umbrella of the ACCI are 59 business associations and cooperatives organized, which represent more than 90 percent of the workforce in Afghanistan. In cooperation with these organizations, the ACCI provides the following services.

Advocacy and Interest Representation:

The chamber law mandates the ACCI as the leading voice of the private sector to represent domestic and foreign companies in all matters pertaining a conducive environment. Therefore, the chamber implements a wide range of activities through the Department of Government Relations and Policy, which is in direct contact with the relevant government and non-government agencies. Every year, the chamber organizes special meetings with the President of Afghanistan and participates in economic committees to draft new business related laws and revise old ones.

International Affairs:

Since 2001 the Afghan business community has been encouraged to expand their economic activities outside the country. For these companies the ACCI provides a gateway to foreign markets by organising matchmaking conferences, exhibitions and fairs. The International Department thereby is aware that businesses need favourable conditions and closely collaborates with international, foreign and national organisations to reach this objective. The chamber is represented in the developed and emerging markets through its twelve business councils, which connect the Afghan business community with the outside world. Among the target markets are the neighboring countries, Middle and Near East, Europe and the USA.

Industry and Export Promotion:

Compared with volumes in trade and imports the Afghan export sector remains small. In the field of export development the ACCI provides a range of services to Afghan traders through the Industry and Export Promotion Department. Among them are the following: preparation and issuing the Certificate of Origin, registering business invoices, offering necessary advice and cooperating in removing trade obstacles inside and outside the country. During the past three years the ACCI issued more than 100,000 invoices and 10,000 certificate of origin for Afghan exporters. Furthermore, the chamber supports entrepreneurs to introduce international standards for quality assurance and packaging.

Business Development Services:

The ACCI provides information and guidance to build the foundation for business success. In close cooperation with public and private agencies ACCI supports enterprises and associations to introduce modern management tools. The trainings in areas like business planning, accounting and procurement enable companies to benefit from the growing business opportunities in Afghanistan and worldwide. The tender distribution center supports these activities and provides up-to-date information on tenders from national and international organizations across an array of sectors and provinces.

ACCI Standing Committees:

Legal Services and Arbitration Department
Private entrepreneurs often face disagreements and conflict in enforcing and interpreting the provisions of contracts. The resolution of such conflicts through legal and judiciary channels is complex and time consuming. Therefore, the ACCI plays a vital role in resolving business disputes and conflicts by offering mediation and arbitration services. During the last three years the ACCI has mediated in 58 disputes according this way and will further extend these services. In addition, the chamber provides advice in other juridical issues ranging from business registration to tax declaration.

Introduction!

In support of coalition forces APEX Logistics (formerly AIT) has a 9 year history of providing tailored made transport and storage solutions in support of coalition forces in Afghanistan. With yards in Kandahar, Jalalabad, Hairaton, Heart, Mazar Sharif, Salarno, Bagram and Kabul, Apex is represented in all Regional Command areas. As a CENTCOM approved contractor Apex completes hundreds of missions a week on behalf of the American Department of Defense (DoD) and the British Ministry of Defense (MOD). APEX delivers to all current ISAF sites across Afghanistan.

APEX record of performance is second to none within the Afghanistan transport sector. Highly levels of customer satisfaction with APEX's service can be summarized by the below extract from the Defense Contracting Management Agency (DCMA) QA/QC inspection of Apex during August and September 2010, which gave Apex a "low risk" rating -

"Overall, I was extremely impressed with the level of quality that AIT (now APEX) was performing at. It was obvious that all items listed in the SOW were addressed and a plan was in place to affectively control the quality of each requirement. AIT is the model for how trucking should be conducted in Afghanistan.”

To ensure Apex continually meets and exceeds the expectations of its clients the company has a management program that is formulated to provide results that are deliberate, replicable and verifiable. Apex provides full transparency of its operation to the client, including - Asset Ownership and tracking, QA/QC, Project Controls, SOPs, Training, Internal Audits, Maintenance Management Program, Project Level Accounting, Subcontractor registration & training programs amongst other core initiatives and better business practices.

APEX is confident is has the experience and ability to provide Maersk with a first class transportation service that will enhance and add value to Maersk’s current operations.

been providing fuel logistics services, through its subsidiary entity, Arrow, to NATO's International Security Assistance Forces (ISAF) and in supporting missions under the Operation Enduring Freedom (OEF) framework, which have paved the way for expansion in other industries such as manufacturing and construction. The company has grown appreciably over the past nine years with a long and recurring history of deliverables under U.S. Military contracts through orders, evaluations and continued business, enabling it to become a prominent player in supplying the required tools to support the international mission and the Afghan economy forward in a positive manner.

Hashimy Group has proven expertise in the logistics sector and the transportation of petroleum fuel products across Afghanistan. The Group's security specialists ensure that fuel consignments reach their destination in an efficient and timely manner through one of the most treacherous and high security risk regions in the world. Additionally, the group has sought to monetise synergistic gains as a consequence of operating Afghanistan's most dynamic media network and launching an ambitious national airline company.

The conglomeration of diverse business interests necessitates adherence to the highest standards of corporate governance and internal control. The Group believes its ability to adapt to change and devise intricate project management strategies bode well for future projects in a complex operating environment.

Introduction!

Afghanistan Builders Association (ABA) was established with the support of USAID and its member construction companies in 2004 to enable the construction industry in utilizing the best practices. It focuses its efforts to facilitate the advocacy, communication and participation of afghan construction companies in industry.

OBJECTIVES

- To be collective pro-active voice of the construction industry to insure fair legislation and regulations for the industry and consumer by creating public awareness of the role-played by the business and profession of construction industry in Afghanistan.
 - To be the recognized authority and respected community and business leader on industry standards and related business issues and to assist in those activities when called upon.
 - To provide continuing education and information to provide the highest quality and value in member products and services through education programs and scholarships, encourage young people to take up careers in the construction industry for meeting current and future needs.
 - To promote and support responsible growth to maintain a positive economic future for the communities we serve. To aid the construction industry in such a manner that adequate construction services will be made available by private enterprise to all Afghanistan.

NETWORKING

ABA membership provides direct contact with a vast network of construction professionals and the opportunity for discussions and interaction with colleagues, donors, government officers and NGOs. Additionally, visiting ABA's Web site at www.aba.af allows members to subscribe to several discussion groups. Members gain the advantage of networking on the national, regional and international levels. ABA assists members in getting information on solicitation by donors, NGOs, ARDS, US Army Corp of Engineering and government.

THE VOICE OF CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY

ABA is the voice for all registered construction companies in Afghanistan. It is the only full-service organization whose membership is open to any registered construction companies. ABA actively promotes the profession and serves as advocates for registered construction companies. ABA also serves as watchdogs for the profession, guarding the welfare of members by continual involvement in national governmental affairs. ABA has had several tax forums with the Taxation Department of the Ministry of Finance. ABA just completed the Advocacy program supported by Center for International Private Enterprise (CIPE).

CONTINUING EDUCATION

ABA is committed to providing a well-rounded selection of continuing education activities that meet the needs for professional development of construction companies throughout Afghanistan. ABA is recognized by the US Army Corps of Engineering as a provider of continuing training center, including Safety Training.

masood.shneezai@shneez.com

Introduction!

Shneez has more than 150 years of combined experience and has completed many large and small projects, including those for transportation, logistics, and construction, as well as international trade and supply.

The history of our corporate principals traces back to 1972 when Shneez was founded by M. Omer Shneezai to provide passenger bus transportation in Afghanistan. By the 1980s, thousands of passengers used our busses each year via the routes through Kabul-Kandahar, Kabul-Herat and Kabul Mazar-e-Sharif.

While our passenger transportation business continued to grow, Shneez diversified into the trucking business using different types of trucks to deliver commercial cargo and fuel to locations throughout Afghanistan.

Until the 1990s Shneez continued to grow and had build a fleet of 40 trucking assets and 20 passenger busses.

However, during the Afghanistan civil war from 1992 to 1998 Shneez closed its business.

During Taliban rule from, 1998 to 2001, we engaged in international trade – trading vehicles and spare parts from Japan and Europe to Middle East and Afghanistan.

In 2002, after the Taliban left Afghanistan, we re-established Shneez as a logistics and transportation and construction corporation, registered and headquartered in Kabul, under the names of Shneez Transportation Services (STS) and Kabul Green Builders (KGB) to support USG and NATO missions in Afghanistan. During that period Shneez continued to expand its trucking capabilities and logistics management and withdrew its focus from the construction business. In 2009 Shneez rebranded as Shneez Logistics, a diverse logistics services and products provider, to supply additional services such as integrated transportation, procurement of fuel and other goods (containers, vehicles, spare parts, etc.), warehousing and fuel storage, as well as the lease of trucks and other vehicles. Shneez is registered with the Afghanistan Investment Support Agency (AISA) under the following business license number: (D-34028). Shneez is headquartered in Afshar of Kabul and operates throughout Afghanistan with interline service to and from Pakistan.

Currently Shneez supports various logistics projects, in Afghanistan and the Middle East and has recently acquired a large general trading company in UAE as well as invested in residential buildings to utilize its surplus funds.

Introduction!

The purpose of Vesta is to support the reconstruction of Afghanistan by providing civil engineering service to the various international organizations willing to restore peace, stability, social welfare and economic growth in the country. Vesta is duly registered at the afghan government. We specialize in commercial, industrial and tenant improvement construction, with a particularly strong performance in concrete tilt-up.

Our expertise spans a wide range—from Pre-construction services to complete turn-key Construction Projects.

Integrity, quality and innovation are the characteristics that distinguish Vesta as an emerging Construction Company. Our goal is to provide a higher level of service than is found with any other company in the construction industry. We consistently bring superior craftsmanship to every project- whether constructing horizontal or vertical. Our successful construction approach is based on aggressive subcontractor administration, accurate cost control and low overhead. We employ only qualified subcontractors who share our goal in creating a quality cost-competitive project.

Because scheduling and budget concerns are important to us, we assign a team of experts to every project from the earliest design and pre-construction phases through post-construction clean up. Our team's goal is to create distinctive design ideas and develop streamlined methods of construction that suit each project specifically. We also provide our clients with reliable and expedient information throughout the construction process, ensuring well-informed decision making that ultimately enhances the quality of our final product. The direction we provide is based on a thorough knowledge of the industry and our clients' specific needs.

We believe in hiring talented people for their long-term potential, giving them the responsibility and authority to be effective team players. Having the full support of the company, Vesta employees consistently produce top quality work that exceeds client objectives and promotes future construction opportunities.

Our mission is to pay close attention to the fine details while delivering cost-effective services to our clients on a long term basis. The client relationships that we've developed over the years are as important to us as the jobs themselves. From start to finish, every project will receive our utmost care and attention.

Introduction!

Communications in Afghanistan has increased in the last decade, and has embarked on wireless companies, internet, radio stations and television channels. The Afghan Ministry of Communications improved communication services in Afghanistan significantly. Now Afghanistan has countrywide optical fiber cable network which the project was intended to improve telephone, internet, television and radio broadcast services throughout the country. Major companies, such as Afghan Wireless and Roshan, have been boasting rapid increase in cellular phone usage in the mid 2000s. In response to this Etisalat and MTN Group were launched, and by 2009 there were about 17 million mobile phone users in Afghanistan. There are about 17 million GSM mobile phone subscribers in Afghanistan as of 2011, with over 75,000 fixed telephone-lines and little over 190,000 CDMA subscribers. Mobile communications have improved because of the introduction of wireless carriers into this developing country. This is a concept note regard 220 activities and justification, details business plan is available based on request.

Introduction!

MIDS Inc. is an Afghan owned Company headquartered in Kabul and has offices in major cities of Afghanistan. The company was registered in 2008 and now it has more than 100 qualified professional staff. MIDS Inc. was involved in several projects in 23 provinces in Afghanistan. Over the years, the company has delivered several projects for the government, US Army, UNDP and other reputable organizations as a prime contractor and sometimes as a sub-contractor.

MIDS Inc. has seen the need to expand its services into other sectors of the industry including but not limited to ICT and Telecoms. We believe that ICT /Telecoms plays an important role in changing the way business is done and it has also become one of the most competitive industries internationally. We have seen from international trends that organizations who have embraced ICT have transformed their businesses through cost cutting initiatives, introducing efficiencies and speed, as well as responding to the needs of the market. These organizations have grown while others are shrinking. We have therefore seen the need to take part in the ICT/Telecom Industry and we have now created a division within the company (MIDS Solution), to look after the ICT needs of the market.

MIDS Solutions also provide capacity planning, Re-engineering and project management services for ICT networks, broadband wireless access networks, Network management system. Our dedicated, quality people strive to provide you with tailor-made ICT solutions, customized to your particular needs.
